

News & Events

University News & Information

California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo, California

Jan. 21, 2010

Contact: Eric Burdick, Athletics Information
805-756-6531

Perserverance, Positive Attitude Earn Walk-On Darling Headlines and Starting Center Spot

SAN LUIS OBISPO -- Business senior Ryan Darling, a 6-foot-8, 215-pound forward from Tehachapi, went from walk-on to starting center this week on the Mustang Men's Basketball Team, and wound up front and center on Central Coast newspaper sports sections.

Darling has been with the team as a walk-on and served a season as team manager since coming to Cal Poly as a freshman. New basketball coach Joe Callero saw his potential in practice and put him on the court this year -- with good results. Darling got the first start of his career in a 90-79 win Jan. 17 at Long Beach State.

Darling also had his first double-double in a 72-69 home win over UC Davis a week earlier. Darling scored 10 points and 12 rebounds.

The San Luis Obispo Tribune is spotlighted Darling's positive attitude and steady improvement in a feature Jan. 21, calling him a "Walk On Wonder."

"Really what is there to ever be sad or pessimistic about," Darling told the Tribune. "I go to an amazing school. I'm surrounded by my family that I love, and my teammates are like my family. I'm playing basketball, something I love to do. If you could say you could be anywhere else, be Brad Pitt for a day, I would choose to be here playing basketball at Cal Poly."

Read the whole feature on Darling in the SLO Tribune

Read stories about the current Men's Basketball Team at www.GoPoly.com

Photo: Cal Poly Athletics